

INCULCATION OF NATIONALISM VALUES THROUGH THE LOCAL WISDOM FOR MIGRANT WORKERS IN HONG KONG

by Rukiyati, Mami Hajaroh, L. Andriani Purwastuti

ABSTRACT

The purpose of this PPM is to instill the values of the nationalism of migrant workers in Hong Kong. Migrant workers working in Hong Kong need to be motivated and insight into Indonesianism and a sense of nationalism that they work diligently, but have a clear target for returning to their homeland. Giving motivation and insight is done with Indonesian local wisdom media in the form of re-introduction and sing traditional songs, and compulsory song as well as cooking traditional Indonesian food.

Participants of this training are migrant workers who are members of the non-profit organization TCKLC Hong Kong as many as 25 people, all of them women. The training took place at the TCKLC office located at Wunsha Building, Hong Kong. The PPM method used is brief lectures, discussions, assignments, practices, and singing.

The results of PPM activities show that migrant workers are very happy to receive training in the inculcation of nationalism values through local wisdom. It was obtained by the awareness of migrant workers that although in Hong Kong they earn substantial income, but still feel as less dignified, less respectable. After the training, the migrant workers feel very motivated to return home with a clear plan for their work and activities. Stocks from Hong Kong in the form of money will be used for business and school, while the provision of knowledge will be used to work as teachers in their respective regions. Five months after the training, obtained information that some of the migrant workers who have completed their contract period have actually returned to their homeland and work according to plan when training. Some are PAUD teachers, English teachers, continuing education, and some are entrepreneur. The conclusion is that the training of inculcation of nationalism through local wisdom for migrant workers in Hong Kong has been accomplished with good results.

Kata Kunci: value, nationalism, migrant workers, local wisdom