ABSTRACT

This activity aims to improve the ability of SDIT Luqman Al-Hakim teachers in using and utilizing various platforms in Google Education as a learning media. This activity regarding online learning media aimed at teachers at SDIT Luqman Al-Hakim, Sleman, Yogyakarta.

This service activity uses two methods in the process. The first method is through lectures, and the second uses practice or tutorials. This community service activity is carried out for two days because the implementation of activities must carry out strict health protocols to maintain health and safety during the Covid-19 pandemic.

The results of this PPM activity show that teachers can understand the training material well. During the activity, the teacher also gave a positive response to the material given to them. These activities showed the participants' enthusiasm to ask questions about the preparation of this online learning media. This activity's target has been achieved because the teacher can understand how to use various platforms in Google Education to prepare online learning during the Covid-19 pandemic.
