

THESIS WRITING MODEL OF PBSI FBS UNY

by Esti Swatika Sari, Prihadi, Sudiati, Nurhidayah, Ary Kristiani

ABSTRACT

Abstract

Thesis as the subject turns to some students of PBSI FBS UNY an obstacle, so that many of them are not yet able to graduate on time as planned by the curriculum. Various obstacles may be the cause. Under these circumstances the manager of the study program looking at the need to look thesis writing process done by the students. The problem of this research is how the model of the thesis writing for students of PBSI UNY FBS. The study was conducted with a quantitative approach to the type of survey research.

Prodi PBSI ??student being population for this research. The research sample is determined randomly. The data collection was obtained by questionnaire. The research were analyzed using descriptive analysis. The quantitative analysis is done by making a presentation to the quantitative data describing the results of the questionnaire.

The results showed that the process of writing a thesis student Prodi PBSI starting from the filing of the title until the guardianship is completed. Guardianship done with two and one supervisor. Thesis writing views of how to guide faculty that is able to provide direction and motivation for students. Then the availability of time coaching in general how coaching lecturer done well. there is a structured and some are not. Last is the suitability of lecturers to research topics that have been able to facilitate the performance of students at the time of writing thesis.

Kata Kunci: writing thesis models