ABSTRACT

The purpose of this community service activity was to provide Classroom Action Research (PTK) training for teachers in the Kendal District Islamic Foundation in Central Java. The activity was carried out by lecture, question and answer, direct practice and technical guidance. From the results of this training it can be concluded that 1). The implementation of training can improve the skills of participants (MI teachers) in understanding and compiling class action research proposals.2). Class action research training has high effectiveness because Madrasah Ibtidaiyah teachers need the training material to improve their professionalism.
