ABSTRACT

The tourist village presents the experience of living together with nature, breathing fresh air, avoiding pollution, living socially with the surrounding community, in the sense that tourists do not just see the beauty of nature, but can live in it. Camping ground areas and out bound areas cannot be separated from tourist village facilities. Road pavements around the Taman Sari Desa Kalibening tourism village require systematic and realistic stages, some of these stages are identification of tourism potential in the village, identification of tourist infrastructure facilities in the village, planning of road pavements around tourist areas, design of road pavements around tourist areas, and implementation of road pavements around tourist areas. Assistance activities for tourist villages aim to optimize direction from the use of pavilions, both short-term use to long-term use of facilities.
