ABSTRACT

Yogyakarta as one of the main destinations for foreign tourists is required to provide excellent services not only in hospitality but also in other supporting services such as health service. In this end, this service community aims at improving the skill on English for nursing for nurses at RSUD Prambanan. To achieve the goal, training on English for nursing with thematic and practical approach was conducted for nurses at the hospital.

The results of the training suggest that: 1) the nurses are able to produce expressions and vocabularies appropriate with the health services delivered and 2) the nurses are able to identify the schematic structure of the health services provided.
