Abstract

PPM with the theme Development of Indonesian HOTS Questions for junior high school in Sleman aims to provide information related to HOTS characteristic questions and provide training on the preparation of HOTS-characterized questions. The question is related to the preparation of the Minimum Competency Assessment (AKM). The target of this activity is Indonesian language teachers in Sleman Regency, but in its implementation the participants who joined came from various regions in Indonesia up to 315 participants.

The implementation of the activity is carried out online with three main materials, namely the concept and application of HOTS, the concept and application of AKM, and the practice of preparing AKM. The activity was carried out three times. The first activity is the equalization of the concepts of HOTS and AKM. the second activity is an independent practice of preparing AKM questions with HOTS characteristics and the third activity is a review of questions.

The results of this activity are in the form of product AKM questions with a total of 487 questions compiled by the participants. This product can be a question bank, especially for Indonesian subjects. In addition, the results of the activity evaluation also showed that the participants were greatly helped in understanding the HOTS-characterized AKM questions. To appreciate the participation of the teachers in this activity, they received a certificate with a total of 38 hours of training.
