

TRAINING OF FUNCTIONAL SKILLS FOR WOMEN IN SOKOLIMAN

by Sujarwo, Lutfi Wibawa, Trisanti, Fitta Ummaya

ABSTRACT

This functional skills training aims to increase the capacity of women to process diverse foods by utilizing local resources. The training activities are carried out by beginning with the needs analysis, planning, implementation, evaluation and assistance. The program target of this activity is 25 mothers in Sokoliman. The methods used include: lectures, discussions, and practice. The results of this activity were: (1) 25 trained mothers in Sokoliman village were able to make various cakes such as pineapple jam pie and Moringa leaf choco chips. (2) mothers already know and are able to utilize local resources available in their environment to be processed into a diverse menu.

Kata Kunci: Training, functional skills, women