ABSTRACT

Abstrack

Textbooks are a reference for teachers and students in schools including at the high school level, however there are still many students having difficulty using it. This fact is an interesting issue to study regarding the WB Javanese language textbooks that are widely used in DIY. This study will reveal the quality of the textbooks used in DIY for high school students. From this research, the textbook standard will become a reference so that it can be used to achieve the goals of regional language education that have been mandated in the curriculum. This is a descriptive study. The data were collected from the WIBAWA book "Wiyata Basa Jawa" which is used for class X, XI, and XII SMA / SMK / MA in Yogyakarta Special Region. The research instrument is Fry Graph indicators. WIBAWA text book readability was 66.67%, while 33.33% of the book did not meet legibility. The 33.33% unacceptability does not mean completely unacceptable, but there are parts that are too easy and some parts that are too difficult, so it needs to be revised.
