

The mainstreaming of Pancasila after the constitution of 1945 amendment

by Samsuri, Cholisin, Mukhamad Murdiono

ABSTRACT

After the revocation of MPR Decree No. II / MPR / 1978 concerning Guidelines for Living and the practice of Pancasila (Pedoman Penghayatan dan Pengamalan Pancasila, P4) by the MPR at the MPR Special Session in November 1998, there is a change in interpretation of the good Pancasila mainstreaming model and approach as the basis of the state and as the state ideology. For this reason, this study aims to: (1) mapping the policy of mainstreaming Pancasila as the basis of the state and state ideology Indonesia, which has been implemented since the reform era; (2) mapping the discourse and model the Pancasila mainstreaming policy from the perspective of state administrators; (3) construct the model of mainstreaming Pancasila as the basis of the state and state ideology through wholeness national development policy.

The qualitative descriptive research method was carried out comparatively to the implementation the policy of mainstreaming Pancasila by the government both in the legislative (MPR) and the judiciary (Constitutional Court) and the executive. Data collection is done by technique interviews with key informants of each state institution, and documentation studies. The data analysis was done inductively, and presented descriptively and analytically.

The expected research output targets are: first, publication of articles in journals internationally reputed; second, international seminar / conference papers; third, book publication teaching materials with ISBN registered.

Kata Kunci: national ideology; mainstreaming; Pancasila; the constitution; national reformation