

Capacity Building through 4C's skills in an effort to increase the entrepreneurial motivation of the assisted residents in the Class II A Yogyakarta Correctional Institution

by Hiryanto, Entoh Tohani, Sujarwo, Akhmad Rofiq, Arif Wijayanto, Yudan Hermawan.

ABSTRACT

Capacity building (Capacity building) through the provision of 4Cs skills in an effort to increase the entrepreneurial motivation of the assisted citizens in the Class II A Yogyakarta Correctional Institution, which has been carried out aims to strengthen the self-confidence and motivation of WBP entrepreneurs by strengthening 4C's skills. This community service activity based on the importance of 4Cs skills in the future. The target group of this activity is 25 people in the Correctional Institution Class II A Yogyakarta. Capacity building activities when viewed from the participation and enthusiasm of the assisted residents are extraordinary, this can be seen from the number of participants who did not change from start to finish as many as 25 people (100%) and involvement in discussions and questions and answers who always respond when asked by sources.

The material presented in the training to build the capacity of prison assisted residents in the form of 4Cs abilities, namely the ability to think critically, creativity, communication, and collaboration using the game method by the participants were very beneficial, and they said that when they had finished carrying out the guidance they wanted to apply it in life their daily life to be able to live a better life. Development of critical thinking skills, creativity, communication and collaboration is needed for society in this era which is full of competition and competition, people who have that ability can compete and survive in this era.

Kata Kunci: Capacity Building, Business Motivation, Skills 4Cs