

Abstract

by Ashadi

ABSTRACT

Curriculum 2013 does not only put pressure in the form of structural issues on the teachers as practitioners in the classroom. English teachers felt their curricular and instructional issues that they needed to understand to improve their practice. The current community development program is intended to help teachers break down existing curricular issues through a workshop of teaching materials development that refers to the newly implemented curriculum. Thus, the 40 participating teachers from Jogjakarta English Teachers Association members can learn directly from the facilitators and at the same time practice how to evaluate and adapt the English teaching materials. The results of this workshop are presented by the participants in groups according to the unit whether they teach in junior high, high school and / or vocational school in order to get feedback from the other participants and instructors.

Kata Kunci: Curricular, materials development, adaptation, workshop