ABSTRACT

Guidance and Counseling Evaluation is an effort, action and process to determine the quality of progress in guidance and counselling program. The assessment activities take into account the criteria or benchmarks in accordance with the guidance and counselling program that has been made previously. The guidance and counselling teacher must have a support program for guidance and counseling to find out the level of delay and the specified achievement program. The purpose of the community service program is to discuss the basic concepts of evaluating the guidance and counselling program in schools and the teacher can arrange the evaluation program in accordance with the operational guidelines for implementing guidance and counselling. The target audience is teacher guidance and counseling at the junior high school in Sleman Regency, Yogyakarta. This service uses training and workshop. In the training activities, the resource person conducts training for teachers on guidance and counselling evaluation based on the guidance and counselling Operational Analysis Guidelines. The training activities will be followed by workshops followed by mentoring for teachers, so that at the end of the program the teacher can arrange an evaluation of the BK program.

A total of 42 BK teachers in Sleman Regency, Yogyakarta were involved in the training and workshop. In the training discussed material about the preparation of the guidance and counselling program and evaluation in guidance and counseling.
