ABSTRACT

Knowing and implementing Classroom Action Research in the teaching learning process is very important for teachers of SMK I N Bantul Yogyakarta. It is important because of the role of teachers are not only as teachers but also researchers in education. An example which was found in the school that from reflection phase, teachers found out that they need to do something to improve the quality of their teaching. Therefore, it is important to have this research skill as it gives teachers extra help in developing their potential teaching abilities. Other than that, teachers get ideas to do inovative ways in teaching their students.
