ABSTRACT

Learning Javanese language in elementary schools is known to be difficult and difficult for students. The purpose of this first year PPM is to provide counseling on the preparation of Javanese language teaching materials for elementary school grades 1-3 which are used for Javanese language teachers at Muhammadiyah elementary school in Sleman district. The theory used as the basis of the research is the theory of linguistic competence, linguistic performance and the theory of language psychology. The PPM method is adapted to the current situation using remote applications, namely Zoom Meeting. The benefits of counseling are expected that elementary Javanese language teachers can understand the provisions for the preparation of teaching materials along with the model for structuring Javanese language teaching materials in elementary schools, especially grades 1-3. Zoom was attended by 104 participants. Participants were happy and wanted to follow up on outreach activities to assist in the development of elementary teaching materials.
