Javanese language learning in elementary school is known to be difficult and fun for students. The purpose of this first year of research is to review the Javanese language teaching materials for Elementary School Classes 4-6 SD used in DIY as well as arrange the pattern of teaching materials according to language competence. The theory used as the basis of the research is the theory of linguistic competence, linguistic performance and the theory of language psychology. This research is a descriptive study using data from elementary school Java language learning books. Data analysis was carried out using reading and note-taking techniques. The validation used is content validity while the reliability uses expert judgment. The results of the study show that the Javanese language teaching materials for grades 4-6 SD still leave a number of problems, both formal in nature, as well as the content and use of language in it. Meanwhile, the preparation of teaching materials still requires indicators for the preparation of teaching materials that are in accordance with the target curriculum and the level of difficulty of the teaching materials.
