

Household Economic Increasing Through The Cultivation Vegetable Organically Based On Environment Insight in YIA, Temon Kulonprogo.

by Suranto Aw, Miftahudin, Eko Widodo

ABSTRACT

This community service aims to increasing knowledge and competency of households by giving training and assistance in vegetable organically. These training and assistance are also used to increase family economic. In detail, this program aims to increasing knowledge and competency in vegetable organically and increasing family economic through vegetable organically training.

Method that used in this program were theory and practice including presentation, answer and question, discussion, problem solving, practical ad assistance to the community when they do the cultivation practical of vegetable organically.

The results are training material which is relevant to the communities' needs, appropriate and it can give many benefits. Based on program evaluation, this program got solution in order to this program can be done continually and discuss another topic that relevant to the communities' needs.

Kata Kunci: Training, Assistance, Vegetable organically