by Suharjana, Sujarwo, Widiyanto, Ahmad Nasrulloh

ABSTRACT

Volleyball has been very popular with the community, in this case the people in Kulonprogo Regency. The number of clubs that have emerged in Kulonprogo Regency also does not necessarily have an impact on the coaching process, especially the athletes who have sprung up in Kulonprogo. There are still many volleyball athletes from Kulonprogo who have to take part in training at volleyball clubs in the city of Yogyakarta. The purpose of this service activity is to provide education to the community in Kulonprogo Regency about the application of volleyball during the pandemic.

In order for the socialization process to take place as targeted, several methods need to be applied, including through the lecture and discussion method, practice in the field, as well as with mentoring.

The PPM activity for socializing the sport of volleyball during the pandemic concluded as follows: Volleyball socialization activities during the pandemic were running smoothly, with the characteristics of participants' enthusiasm for learning to play volleyball was very high and the PPM activity for socializing volleyball sport could take place safely, in an orderly manner and under control, everything goes safely healthy and happy.
