ABSTRACT

As a relatively new school, SMP and Pesantren Bumi Cendekia require a complex process to realize its vision. One of the focuses of Bumi Cendekia today is mapping students' interests and talents. Recognition of students' potentials, interests, and talents is indispensable to underpin 21st-century competencies. Individuals who are able to recognize their potential will be more focused in developing their competence. Until now, SMP and Pesantren Bumi Cendekia conduct data collection of students' interests and talents independently at the beginning of students entering school and at this time. Schools require the introduction of interest-talent involving psychological tools as well as guidance to recognize potential. DLK PkM activities are carried out by organizing self-potential recognition training for students and interest-Talent Assessment.
