

Training on Implementation of Media Guidance and Counseling Services Based on Permendiknas 111 Year 2014 for Guidance and Counseling Teacher of Junior High School in Magelang City, Central Java

by Budi Astuti, Fathur Rahman, Sugiyanto

ABSTRACT

This PPM activity is conducted with the aim to provided insight, experience and mentoring for guidance and counseling teachers of Junior High School in Magelang city in order to develop their competence in implementing guidance and counselling services through media.

The PPM activity method used discussions and lectures, practicums and practices in the field. Audience targets involving 60 guidance and counseling teachers of public and private junior high schools in Magelang city. Activity evaluation included cognitive, affective and psychomotor evaluation. The indicator of the success of this activity is the guidance and counselling teacher shows the increased competence in the implementation of guidance and counselling services through the media. The results of PPM activities included enhancing theoretical understanding and practice of counseling and guidance services through the media. The product is guidance board media, problem box, leaflet, blog, website, and e-counseling. The results of this study could be used as the basic foundation to carry out the relevant trainings so that it is useful for the development of BK teacher competence.

Kata Kunci: training, guidance and counseling media, teacher