ABSTRACT

Remedial Teaching is a very important activity in the learning program as a whole. Through a remedial teaching program a teacher can help students to attain learning objectives optimally. The objective of remedial teaching is to help students to understand the problems they face which cause them to have low grades. The problem is that teachers at school have not understood the concept of remedial teaching. This training was attended by 30 teachers of elementary schools in UPTD in the northern areas of Yogyakarta. The results of the training indicated that the participants had moderately high enthusiasm for the training and showed improvement in understanding and motivation related to the remedial teaching implementation. Therefore, remedial teaching training should be continued to improve the mastery in the remedial teaching implementation.
