

PELUANG KERJA DAN KINERJA LULUSAN PENDIDIKAN EKONOMI FE UNY

by Aula Ahmad Hafidh, M.Si. NIDN 0028107506 Tejo Nurseto, M.Pd. NIDN 0024037404 Ali Muhson,
M.Pd. NIDN 0012116802 Supriyanto, MM. NIDN 0020076507

ABSTRACT

Unemployment is always important issue in the development process. On one side education is expected to solve unemployment, but on the other hand the number of unemployment among educated were continue to increase. In order to get information about the effectiveness of education in college, need to examine the research of tracer study. The research aims to 1. Know waiting time graduates of economics education department to get a job. 2. Analysis work distribution in various work sectors, 3. Know the relevance level work and 4. Snapshot performance of economics education graduates.

The research is descriptive exploratives with quantitative approach. Research be carried aout during April – August 2017.

Population in this study is graduated of economics education department 2007 – 2016. Sample was a convenience sampling. The data collection was done using questionnaire, documentation and interview. Data analysis using descriptive.

The study discovered that 1. Graduates of economics education department including easily employed in work force. They wait for first job were quickly enough only 3 months on the average. 2. Employment opportunities of first job dominated by private sector, teachers/tentors, for a private worker and teacher still to be a favourite option, then civil servants, either teacher and lecturer. 3. The relevance of competence and work currently quite good, 61 % graduates work in accordance with their expertise. And 4. Graduated performance include in good category in term of integrity, mastery of information technology, ability to cooperate with the team, communication skills, professional and the ability to expand themselves. Only the English ability still to be the obstacle of our graduates.

Kata Kunci: Graduates, Economics Education, Peformance