ABSTRACT

Use of Basic Indonesian Prepositions by BIPA Student at FBS

Abstract

This qualitative research aims to determine the use of basic prepositions that have been obtained by BIPA students and those who have not been mastered, as well as the factors causing the misuse of prepositions from the linguistic aspects carried out by BIPA students at FBS. The data source of this research is the essay of BIPA students. The data collection technique used was reading notes, while the research instrument was a parameter of precision word classes in Indonesian. The data analysis technique used was distributional, while the validity of the research data used was triangulation, in the form of triangulation of sources and researchers. Based on data analysis, it can be concluded that BIPA students at FBS have the minimum ability to use basic prepositions di, ke, dari, pada, dalam. This can be seen from the frequency of use of prepositions, which amounted to 647 pieces, there were 528 bold weights and 119 incorrect uses. The factor causing misuse is more due to confusion in the use of prepositions that have similarities such as prepositions di and ke, pada; prepositions dari and di; prepositions ke and kepada, dalam, and zero; prepositions pada with prepositions dengan and zero; and dalam prepositions and with prepositions pada, di, and dari.
