

CAPACITY DEVELOPMENT OF PHASE A DRIVING SCHOOLS (CLASS 1 AND 2) ON ASPECTS IN THE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE INDEPENDENT CURRICULUM

by Isti Yunita, Cahyorini Kusumawardani, Kun Sri Budiasih, Dina Dina

ABSTRACT

One of the most important components in education that is often overlooked is the curriculum. Even though the curriculum has a very important and strategic position. Curriculum is a description of the vision, mission and educational goals of an institution or educational institution. The curriculum is also a central value content that will be transformed to students to achieve educational goals.

For teachers, the curriculum functions as a guide in carrying out the learning process. For school principals or madrasa heads and supervisors, the curriculum functions as a guide in carrying out supervision or control. For parents, the curriculum functions as a guide in guiding their children to study at home. For the community, the curriculum functions as a guide to provide assistance for the implementation of the education process in schools or madrasas. As for students, the curriculum functions as a guide in carrying out learning activities.

Apart from being a guide for students, the curriculum has six important and strategic functions, namely the preparation function, selection function, differentiation function, adjustment function, integration function and diagnostic function.

Kata Kunci: independent curriculum, implementation, driving schools