

THE LITERACY SKILL OF ACCOUNTING TEACHER IN VOCATIONAL SCHOOL IN YOGYAKARTA

by Isroah, Ani Widayati, Eka Ary Wibawa

ABSTRACT

Our world today is starting to enter the era of the 4.0 industrial Revolution that affects all areas of life is no exception to education. One of the skills that accounting teachers must have in the 4.0 Industrial Revolution is the new literacy skills that consist of digital literacy, technological literacy, and human literacy. This research aims to know literacy teacher skills of accounting of SMK business and management in DIY.

This research is a survey research with a cross-sectional survey design with a quantitative approach. This study was conducted for 7 months which is April to October 2019 by taking the research location in DIY. The population of this research was a DIY accounting teacher with as many as 240 teachers with a sample research of 150 teachers. Sampling techniques use random sampling clusters. The data collection techniques using polls and documentation. This research instrument is questionnaire and documentation check list. The validity of the Research poll instrument is conducted with exploratory factor analysis, while the reliability estimate uses the Cronbach Alpha formula. Data analysis techniques using quantitative descriptive statistical techniques are followed by categorizing data.

The results showed that: 1) Literacy skills of Accounting master SMK business and management in Yogyakarta Special region is reviewed from the digital dimension Literacy skill entered in a good category with a score of 69.09; 2) Literacy skill teacher accounting of SMK business and management in the special region of Yogyakarta is reviewed from the technological dimension Literacy skill in good category with a score of 73.07; 3) Literacy skill teacher accounting of SMK business and management in Yogyakarta Special region is reviewed from the dimension of human Literacy skill in good category with a score of 81.07; and 4) in general literacy skills of accounting teacher SMK business and management in the special region of Yogyakarta is in a good category.

Kata Kunci: literacy skill, digital literacy, technological literacy, human literacy, accounting teacher