ABSTRACT

Environmental planning of the campground area is a strategic step in efforts to preserve nature and empower local communities. This study focuses on environmental management of the Gendungan camping ground area in Kalibening Village, Dukun District, Magelang Regency, Central Java. The service is carried out with the aim of analyzing and improving environmental quality and strengthening the role of the community in managing the campground. The methods used include field surveys, interviews, planning and implementation. As a result of the service, a plan for restructuring the Gendungan campground was obtained. Not only the design, there are several other activities produced besides the design, including rejuvenating the gate, improving the pavilion, repairing the road and also rearranging the Gendungan campground landmark which has become a symbol or attraction for visitors to the campground.
