ABSTRACT

Campgrounds provide facilities for people to be able to do outdoor activities, live in harmony with rural nature, breathe fresh air, be far from pollution and noise, experience and be involved in local community activities, in the sense that tourists don't just see the beauty of nature, but can live in it. inside. The campground area cannot be separated from the tourist village facilities. Finishing a Pendopo in a tourist village requires systematic and realistic stages, some of these stages are identification of tourism potential in the village, identification of tourism infrastructure in the village, implementation of finishing on the structure of the Pendopo. The pavilion structure finishing activities aim to maximize and provide beauty to the pavilions in the campground area. The implementation of the work will of course have a positive effect on the implementation of activities in the campground area.
