

POLYGAMY: DIFFERENT PERSPECTIVES OF SPACE AND TIME

by Saefur Rochmat, Rhoma Dwi Aria Yuliantri, Alifi Nur Prasetia Nugroho, Diana Trisnawati, Shafa Almeira Balqis

ABSTRACT

Polygamy has historically not been easy just by "looking at the past". In different spaces and times different agents and contexts the issue of polygamy is very diverse. The lack of historiography related to the problems of polygamy is also an additional difficult to understand the roots of this dynamic because historiography generally speaks to the relationship between power / state with big themes. To see the journey of polygamy in Indonesia this study at least photographed two things, namely the issue of polygamy practices in society and the legality of polygamy itself. In the dimensions of time the roots of polygamy in Indonesia can be seen from pre-colonial, colonial and independence. This type of research is historical qualitative research. There are five stages in this study, namely topic selection, heuristics, verification, interpretation, and historical writing (historiography). The benefit of this research is that it becomes the basis of a historical foothold looking at the journey of polygamy in a variety of perspectives of space and time. The target achieved in this study is a scientific article that has been published in the nationally indexed journal Sinta.

Kata Kunci: Polygamy, Space Perspective, and Time.